

Continue

Step inside the magical world of the Princess Games! If your day-to-day life makes you feel bored, annoyed, or sad, then you'll be glad to know that you can escape. Twelve lovely Disney heroines are waiting to meet you. Join them in their amazing adventures, and you'll learn a lot about friendship, kindness, courage, and leadership! Even though they come from different corners of the world, these protagonists have something in common: they are great role models. Whether you are a boy or a girl, you'll have a lot to learn from their stories! This beloved franchise was formally created in the year 2000. However, the very first movie featuring a Disney Princess came out in the year 1937. Can you believe that? All the heroines are loosely based on beloved fairy tales and legends from all around the world. However, Disney did a great job adapting them to our times. Not only will you know their story, but you'll also have the chance to live their adventures and find out more about their inspiring lives! It's hard to believe that you don't know about at least some of the princesses. Their stories are extremely popular and beloved all over the world, and as young children and adults alike. However, not everyone knows their story. Try the Disney Princess Storybook Adventures game, and you can find out about the lives of each of the twelve princesses! Spend some time with the original princesses! Do you know who the oldest princess is? She is the heroine of the first Disney movie ever produced. Wow! Naturally, we're talking about the kind and hard-working beauty, Snow White. Play the Snow White: Forest Adventure game to meet her and her forest friends! Have you seen a crystal shoe around here? Cinderella is another classic heroine of this franchise. In fact, she might be one of the most beloved, thanks to her resilient and loving heart. Besides, her natural elegance and gorgeous voice will charm you! Speaking of blonde sensations, you must also meet Sleeping Beauty. Although she is asleep for most of her movie, Aurora still enchants viewers of all ages. It's time to move on to redheads! Ariel starts her adventure as a curious mermaid. However, by the end, she becomes a powerful queen. Learn more by playing Ariel's Hidden Treasures game! From the bottom of the sea, we can move on to the French countryside. Here lives a brilliant young lady with big dreams called Belle. Watch her tame the fierce Beast and become queen of the castle in Belle's Adventure game! Have you ever met a Middle Eastern Princess? If not, the determined and adventurous Jasmine is waiting for you. Her journey with Aladdin, a poor homeless boy, will amaze you! Another exotic presence in this group is Pocahontas, the daughter of a Native American chief. Having lived her entire life in close touch with nature, she understands the world of plants and animals like no one else. Mulan is the last of the original Disney Princesses. However, she is quite different! Our heroine has earned her title with her own forces. Can you believe that she fought in the army, pretending to be a man? Play Princess Games from the new generation! After a ten-year break, Disney has decided to come out with a new series of princess movies. They are more modern and reflect the values of the contemporary world. Tiana has the honor of being the first character of the new generation. Besides, she is also the first African American heroine in the history of Disney, which proves that you can achieve your life-long dream if you put in hard work every day. Therefore, be relentless and never stop believing! You can live your whole life locked up in a tower? Rapunzel didn't like it either! Traditionally, she was known for her incredibly long, golden hair. However, in this version of the story, everything changes! Rapunzel is a fearless and ingenious young woman who craves to discover the world around her. Join her and Flynn Rider in the Tangled Double Trouble game! Speaking of fearless princesses, Merida is the bravest by far. This Scottish princess isn't interested in girly stuff at all. Nevertheless, she is a strong warrior with many skills. Nobody can beat her if you give her a bow and arrow! Join her as she learns to reconcile her big personality with her royal duties! Moana is the latest addition to this select group of beautiful ladies. Born on the island of Motunui, she is the daughter of Chief Tui. In other words, she is an island princess. What sets this young woman apart? She is tenacious, optimistic, and adventurous. Join her as she sets sail on a wooden boat towards the unknown, on a mission to save her people! As you can see, you can find something for every taste in the category of Princess Games. You'll never get bored! Whether you are a boy or a girl, don't be afraid to start playing! There are currently 52 free online Princess games on our website. You can play the games on your computer or laptop, using any browser. Some of the games are also available for your tablets or Android and iOS phones. Here you can see the games 1 - 30. Austrian video game publisher For the Swedish holding company formerly named "THQ Nordic", see Embracer Group. THQ Nordic GmbHLogo in use since August 2016FormerlyNordic Games GmbH (2011–2016)Company typeSubsidiaryIndustryVideo gamesFounded2011; 14 years ago (2011)HeadquartersVienna, AustriaArea servedWorldwideKey peopleKlemens Kreuzer (CEO)Reinhard Pollice (director of business and product development)ProductsSee List of THQ Nordic gamesRevenue €161 million[1] (2022)Number of employees988[1] (2022)ParentCompany GroupSubsidiariesSee S SubsidiariesWebsitethqnordic.com THQ Nordic GmbH (formerly Nordic Games GmbH) is an Austrian video game publisher based in Vienna. Formed in 2011, it is a publishing subsidiary of Embracer Group. Originally named Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in the Dark, SpellForce, and Gothic. THQ Nordic's core portfolio comprises assets that were acquired from other developers and publishers, such as from JoWood Entertainment and its subsidiaries DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company in 2011, THQ in 2013, and NovaLogic in 2016. THQ Nordic has acquired and established several subsidiary studios, including Black Forest Games, Bugbear Entertainment, Gunfire Games, HandyGames, Piranha Bytes, Purple Lamp, and Rainbow Studios. Former Nordic Games logo (2011–2016) Nordic Games GmbH was founded in 2011 as part of the Nordic Games Holding group.[2] Within this group, Nordic Games became a subsidiary of Nordic Games Licensing, which was established in the same year.[3][4] In June 2011, Nordic Games Holding acquired assets from JoWood and its affiliate companies DreamCatcher Interactive and The Adventure Company, including their brands and products. Nordic Games, as was the parent company, both companies were renamed THQ Nordic in August 2016 after the parent company had acquired the "THQ" trademark in 2014. The company publishes licensed games from entertainment companies such as AEW, Nickelodeon, Lucasfilm Ltd., Comedy Central, and Disney, while maintaining its own development studios and IP, publishing franchises like Destroy All Humans!, Darkskiders, Alone in